Upon re-review, you can now read a comprehensive view of the movie for $20 (before service fees). Here's a novel idea for an app. You have two sides; one side is completely random and the other side is a mix of your friends. With the random side, you can view other people's entry but only for $20 a piece. The more friends you have, the more you get to spend (as currently most people have only one friend). Add that to the fact that all people have a good chance of winning $100 per side (you have a one in a million chance) and that the game lasts for 500 days and you have a very good business model. My current business idea is to create a similar game where you get to play for $5 if you're male, but you pay $10 if you're female (then again, you get to view other people's entries). I call this idea the "Michelle Obama Movie App". I'll stop now. LOL. .
